ABOUT AURX®

Gastrointestinal research in the ASD patient has suggested a link between gut microbiome imbalance that affects healthy gut function, gastrointestinal, and behavioral symptoms.* With ASD patients, fiber digestion produces abnormally high amounts of the short chain fatty acid, Propionic Acid and insufficient levels of beneficial Butyric Acid.* Propionic Acid build-up crosses the gut-blood-brain barrier creating a toxic environment impacting brain development and function.* The consequences of these gastrointestinal symptoms can often include behavioral symptoms like irritability or unexplained crying, both of which chronically co-occurred in over 40% of patients with autism with GI imbalance symptoms.*

Current evidence combined with the knowledge that patients with autism are typically deficient in butyric acid suggest that it may be prudent to begin butyric acid supplementation.*

AuRx® is a revolutionary new medical food specially formulated to support the gut-brain-immune imbalance found in many Autistic patients. Tesseract's proprietary delivery technology allows pure Butyric Acid, an unpalatable, yet metabolically critical substance, to become a bioavailable therapeutic reality. AuRx® effectively replenishes the inadequate Butyric Acid supplies thereby reducing Propionic Acid production and toxicity.
